Beecher's Counsel Makes a Bitter Reply to Charles O'Conor.

NEW YORK July 24—George F. Comstock of counsel for Tweed in the habeas corpus case before the court of appeals, in reply to the attack of Charles O'Conor and Judge Davis upon the Court of Appeals for giving a decision favorable to Tweed in the matter of James Boole, made a bitter attack upon the argument of counsel in opposition, to the lawless sentence which has been propounded by Judge Davis that the magistrate treated with forbearance notwithstanding the circumstances were circumstances attending the last final trial conviction and sentence which left hardly more than a doubt whether no is longer entitled to such forbearance The jury who rendered the conviction and punishment by death of a single crime. This prisoner and his whole entrapped into the belief that only conviction and one sentence would follow. The judge in announcing the conviction of the judge as announced in the first trial, was dismissed by him till the jury rendered a general verdict of guilty Then the bribery was discovered when the incompetent testimony fell upon the defendant, wretched prisoner charged with neglect of official duty or and performance of official duty The jury, in its verdict, in its own secrecy was guilty of a crime less than the law would have it, yet if he had been guilty of the larceny of $9,000,000. I know of no precedent for such a trial since the days when Jeffries and Scroggs presided over the bloody assizes of England The egress of the case from the murky atmosphere of Judge Davis' court, charged with electric passion, vaulting into the court of appeals in addition to another world. Of O'Connor and his share in the trial out on the court of appeals Judge Comstock says I will take his opinion with profound respect after he has read it, and then he will not be a judge of the authorities of the proceeding Until then it would be becoming to withhold his abuse of the high tribunal which has conducted laboriously considered the question and decided it

BEAVER July 23—10 o'clock the first witness was called

Robert Keyes,

Came to Utah October 2 1857 through Mountain Meadows, saw two piles of bodies women and children piled promiscuously about—some 60 or 70 the children were from two months old to twelve years the smaller were torn by wolves and crows and some of the bodies were shot some had their throats cut some stabbed and all torn by wolves except one woman a little way off who appeared as if asleep with a ball hole in her left side the appearance of the body indicated she had been dead fifteen days seven of us saw it there was a pile of men s bodies dead further on the bodies except one each on a man none were scalped

Asahel Bennett Called

Was at the Meadows in December 1857 saw bones there and the horrible skeletons of men and children with long tresses of hair and dried blood the children were from two years of age, saw some skulls that had been dried on them the bodies had been buried but the wolves evidently had dug them up

Philip Klingen Smith,

(A defendant of San Bernardino California) called The prosecution entered nolle prosequi as to himself

Lived at Cedar City in 1857 the Meadows is forty five miles south of Cedar City, on the California road was at the massacre in September 1857 heard of emigrants coming, the people were forbidden to trade with them and they felt bad about it saw a few of them at Cedar City this was on Friday some of them swore and Higbee mixed them when they went on I heard rumors of trouble on Sunday s at was the custom to have meetings of the president council and bishop when I learned the nature of their instructions was discussed, Higbee Morrell Allen Wells myself Haight and others there were some brethren who were opposed to their destruction I did also Haight jumped up and broke up the meeting I asked what would be the consequence of such an act then Haight got mad, the Indians were to destroy them on Monday Higbee, Haight White and I conversed again I opposed their destruction Haight relented and told White and I to go ahead and tell the people the emigrants should go through safe we did so on the road we met John D Lee told him where we were going, he replied I have something to say about that matter We passed the emigrants at Iron Springs, next morning we passed them again as we came back they had twenty or thirty wagons there were over 100 people old aged, middle aged old women and children, and about noon we met Ira Allen, said the emigrants doom was sealed—the die was cast for destruction that Lees orders were to take men and go out and intercept

I went home Three days after, Haight sent for me He said orders came from camp that they didn t get along and wanted reinforcements that he had been to Parowan and got further orders from Col Wm H Dame to finish the massacre, to decoy out and spare only the small children who could not tell tales went off and met Allen, our first runner and others Higbee came out and said we ordered out armed and equipped As I went to Haights Higbee, John Willis and Sam Hardy went along had two baggage wagons got to Haights ranch in the night three miles from the emigrants there met Lee and others from the camp then I found the emigrants not all killed Lee called me out for consultation on the outside He told me the situation told me the emigrants were forted up and no chance to get them out that Higbee gave orders to decoy them in the best way they could that it was agreed to and commanded given to John D Lee to carry out the whole plan they went to camp Lee called out all the boys in hollow square and addressed them they were all white men about 50 in all the Indians were in another camp, saw there Slade and his son Jim Pearce and probably his sons too, all those from Cedar, and Bill Stewart seven Jacobs and think Dan McFarlane, too Slade and I were outraged but we said what can we do, we can t help ourselves Just then the order to march was given and we had to go part in double file Higbee had command of part of the men it was the Nauvoo legion organized from Iron up to hundreds that marched in sight of the emigrants Lather Bateman or Lee went out with the white flag and a parley took the emigrants met them and the man sat down on the grass and had a talk Don t know what they talked about Lee went with the man into the entrenchments After some hours they came out and the emigrants came up with the wounded in wagons ahead The wounded were those hurt in the three days previous fight Next came the women next the men As the emigrants came up the men halted and the women on foot the children and the wounded went on ahead with John D Lee The settlers had orders to be all ready to shoot at the word When the word to halt came the soldiers fired once don t know it I killed any one The men were not all killed the first shot saw the women afterwards dealt with their tomahawks and guns I saw Lafayette Dame and Bill Young girls and boys were married in double file first then thrown into a jungle file with soldiers alongside Heard emigrants congratulating themselves on their safety from the Indians At last John M Higbee came and ordered my squad to fire Lee like the rest had firearms No emigrants escaped saw soldiers on horses to take those who ran in mountain and saw Bill Stewart on horseback go after and kill him saw one wounded man beg for his life Higbee cut his throat the man said I would not do so to you Higbee who knew him After I fired I was told to gather up the little children as I went I saw a large woman running toward the fort crying My husband my husband The oldest shot her in the back and she fell dead As I went on I found the wagons with the wounded all out on the ground I told them with their fronts put I kept walking in and out the children put them in wagons and drove them to Hamblins I had I guess I drove one load of children and left them there There were many soldiers from the south whom I didn t know Nephi and Wilkins took the children to Cedar City leaving one at Pinto creek On the road we met a freight train of wagons The measure I was taken in Beaver Went to old Mrs Hopkins and told her I had the children She instantly fainted and I gave them to her I took one girl baby home and my wife suckled it After I gave it to Birkbeck he having no children They were well treated I believe got good places for them where there were few children

The question of allowing the statements of co conspirators is to the disposal of the emigrants property after the massacre, was here argued for an hour The court held it admissible on grounds of the case of the People vs Irma California case

During the argument Sutherland of the defense bitterly said it was an attempt to fix the crime on some one else Lee being only a figure head

Broken of the prosecution replied that they wanted but the truth whoever is implicated and that Sutherland feared his real client would be reached (Decided sensation nobody knows that Brigham Young was meant)

Witness continued—After several days Haight sent me to Iron springs where the wagons, cattle and goods of the emigrants were got them and put them into the tithing house I was to brand the cattle too found there John Urie and Hunter and Allen I put the goods in the church tithing office cellar left the wagons in front of the tithing office branded the cattle with the church brand a cross Lee was in the cellar with me and saw the goods Haight and Higbee told me a council had been held and Lee deputed to go to President Brigham Young and report all the facts of the massacre Lee went and I followed Lee to attend the conference, October 6th at Salt Lake City Met Lee in Salt Lake and asked if he had reported to Brigham Young He said yes every particular The same day I Lee and Charley Hopkins called on Brigham Young He there in presence of them said, You have charge of that property in the tithing office turn it over to John D Lee what you know of this say nothing of it don't talk of it even among yourselves When the time came I had to go to Vegas to the lead mines to get ore and while I was gone Lee took the property and had it sold at auction, so Haight and Higbee told me Haight got one of the cattle to Hooper, Utah a congressional delegate afterwards, for boots and shoes

There were Indians at the massacre the bulls hung pretty full of them they were detailed to kill the women, saw one Indian cut a little boy s throat heard no effort to restrain the Indians some of the Indians were wounded and three died of their wounds The Indians came back to Cedar, where I lived One was called Bill one Tom—both chiefs Saw some of the emigrants property with the Indians saw Lee get dresses and jeans from the tithing office out of the emigrants plunder learned from Haight that Lee took the property and had it sold at auction, so Haight and Higbee told me Haight got one of the cattle to Hooper, Utah a congressional delegate afterwards, for boots and shoes

Court here adjourned till 9 A M After to day night sessions are to be held The court warned citizens not to speak to jurors from the street, and declared he would arrest and punish such offense During the time of Smith s bond was at the massacre in September 1857 heard of emigrants coming, the people were forbidden to trade with them and they felt bad about it saw a few of them at Cedar City this was on Friday some of them swore and Higbee mixed them when they went on I heard rumors of trouble on Sunday s at was the custom to have meetings of the president council and bishop when I learned the nature of their instructions was discussed, Haight Higbee Morrell Allen Wells myself and others there were some brethren who were opposed to their destruction I did also Haight jumped up and broke up the meeting I asked what would be the consequence of such an act then Haight got mad, the Indians were to destroy them on Monday Higbee, Haight White and I conversed again I opposed their destruction Haight relented and told White and I to go ahead and tell the people the emigrants should go through safe we did so on the road we met John D Lee told him where we were going, he replied I have something to say about that matter We passed the emigrants at Iron Springs, next morning we passed them again as we came back they had twenty or thirty wagons there were over 100 people old aged, middle aged old women and children, and about noon we met Ira Allen, said the emigrants doom was sealed—the die was cast for destruction that Lees orders were to take men and go out and intercept

I went home Three days after, Haight sent for me He said orders came from camp that they didn t get along and wanted reinforcements that he had been to Parowan and got further orders from Col Wm H Dame to finish the massacre, to decoy out and spare only the small children who could not tell tales went off and met Allen, our first runner and others Higbee came out and said we ordered out armed and equipped As I went to Haights Higbee, John Willis and Sam Hardy went along had two baggage wagons got to Haights ranch in the night three miles from the emigrants there met Lee and others from the camp then I found the emigrants not all killed Lee called me out for consultation on the outside He told me the situation told me the emigrants were forted up and no chance to get them out that Higbee gave orders to decoy them in the best way they could that it was agreed to and commanded given to John D Lee to carry out the whole plan they went to camp Lee called out all the boys in hollow square and addressed them they were all white men about 50 in all the Indians were in another camp, saw there Slade and his son Jim Pearce and probably his sons too, all those from Cedar, and Bill Stewart seven Jacobs and think Dan McFarlane, too Slade and I were outraged but we said what can we do, we can t help ourselves Just then the order to march was given and we had to go part in double file Higbee had command of part of the men it was the Nauvoo legion organized from Iron up to hundreds that marched in sight of the emigrants Lather Bateman or Lee went out with the white flag and a parley took the emigrants met them and the man sat down on the grass and had a talk Don t know what they talked about Lee went with the man into the entrenchments After some hours they came out and the emigrants came up with the wounded in wagons ahead The wounded were those hurt in the three days previous fight Next came the women next the men As the emigrants came up the men halted and the women on foot the children and the wounded went on ahead with John D Lee The settlers had orders to be all ready to shoot at the word When the word to halt came the soldiers fired once don t know it I killed any one The men were not all killed the first shot saw the women afterwards dealt with their tomahawks and guns I saw Lafayette Dame and Bill Young girls and boys were married in double file first then thrown into a jungle file with soldiers alongside Heard emigrants congratulating themselves on their safety from the Indians At last John M Higbee came and ordered my squad to fire Lee like the rest had firearms No emigrants escaped saw soldiers on horses to take those who ran in mountain and saw Bill Stewart on horseback go after and kill him saw one wounded man beg for his life Higbee cut his throat the man said I would not do so to you Higbee who knew him After I fired I was told to gather up the little children as I went I saw a large woman running toward the fort crying My husband my husband The oldest shot her in the back and she fell dead As I went on I found the wagons with the wounded all out on the ground I told them with their fronts put I kept walking in and out the children put them in wagons and drove them to Hamblins I had I guess I drove one load of children and left them there There were many soldiers from the south whom I didn t know Nephi and Wilkins took the children to Cedar City leaving one at Pinto creek On the road we met a freight train of wagons The measure I was taken in Beaver Went to old Mrs Hopkins and told her I had the children She instantly fainted and I gave them to her I took one girl baby home and my wife suckled it After I gave it to Birkbeck he having no children They were well treated I believe got good places for them where there were few children

The question of allowing the statements of co conspirators is to the disposal of the emigrants property after the massacre, was here argued for an hour The court held it admissible on grounds of the case of the People vs Irma California case

During the argument Sutherland of the defense bitterly said it was an attempt to fix the crime on some one else Lee being only a figure head

Broken of the prosecution replied that they wanted but the truth whoever is implicated and that Sutherland feared his real client would be reached (Decided sensation nobody knows that Brigham Young was meant)

SOME SUGGESTIONS TO STRAIGHT REPUBLICANS.

Several prominent Republicans have expressed their decided approbation of our suggestion that the Republican manipulators stand out of the way and the people select a Congressman. The Democracy, believing they have a clear plurality in the State, will make their nomination before any other candidate is in the field. Knowing the impossibility of electing a candidate of their own, the manipulators of the Republican organization, by running a candidate, can accomplish nothing beyond causing a diversion of the popular vote, which may cause the election of the Democratic candidate. Party spirit has measurably died out in the Republican party, and the great majority of the people of the party have stepped up to the higher ground of independent suffrage and individual responsibility. The nomination of a party convention is no longer considered a sufficient reason for supporting a candidate. All that is past, we trust, forever. A nomination henceforth is to be regarded, so far as concerns its influence on the election, merely as a circumstance that will control the action of the voter, when other considerations are equal. It will turn the scale between candidates deemed equally meritorious in other respects, but it will have no potency beyond that. Such an influence is due to the fairly expressed choice of a party convention, and is therefore legitimate and proper. But that a nomination is primarily a good ground for supporting a given candidate, in a time of profound peace and quiet such as this country now fortunately enjoys, is a doctrine that has been pretty generally abandoned. The elections hereafter will turn upon higher principles, so far as a majority of the Republicans have anything to do with them. There are some Republicans who have not yet become fully emancipated from the party thraldom, and who will vote for whomsoever the party managers, that is, the Federal officers and the retainers of Mr. Holladay, may nominate regardless of the question of personal fitness; but these are a comparatively small minority. There may be enough of such to defeat the will of the people, by enabling the Democracy to elect by a plurality, but that is the utmost of their possible power.

Under these circumstances it seems to us those Republicans who really desire the defeat of the Democrats have everything to hope in helping the Independents in the present contest, and nothing from any other course that can be suggested. We do not assume the right to advise Republicans, except as we should express our views and the reasons therefor to any other citizen who desired to accomplish the object which the Republicans profess to be striving to accomplish. We recognize the fact that our relations to the Republican organization are not such as warrant us in claiming any special consideration at the hands of the party for our views; and we present them not as the views of one whose motives are in all respects common to those that actuate the straight Republicans. We desire mainly the election of a good independent man to congress, and we are not going to stop to inquire whether his antecedents are Republican or Democratic, believing as we do that that is a matter of no real importance; while the partisan Republican—excepting the office-hunting politicians—profess to believe, and we presume do believe, that the election of a Democrat would be a real misfortune to the country. This is the difference between them and us: They want mainly to beat the Democrats, and we want mainly to elect an independent man. The objects of both can not be reached, it appears to us, in any other way than that which we suggest. That of the straight Republicans certainly can not, and in candor we are forced to confess the appearances are that the Independents may fail if three tickets are put into the field.

We do not ask Republicans, or anybody else to vote for the independent candidate whether he is fitter for the office than his competitor or not. The "thick-and-thin" doctrine has no place in our political creed; and while we confidently expect the work of the Independent convention will be such as will command the respect of the people and entitle it to the approval of the voters of the State, we should not hesitate to oppose its nominee if it should happen that a man unworthy to be entrusted with the high office of congressman were selected by the convention. And when we suggest the policy of straight Republicans supporting the independent candidate, we do so with the same qualification.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

As the campaign in Ohio advances, the prospect of the defeat of the Democrats becomes better. If one can judge by what appears in the papers, there is but little enthusiasm in the ranks of Democracy, while the Republicans are confident and aggressive. The inflation plank in the Democratic platform proves a heavy load to carry, the Republicans having so adroitly managed their side as to make it impossible for the opposition to get from their ranks votes to replace what is lost on the currency question. The visit of Hon. Wm. D. Kelley to Ohio is doing the Republicans no good, as his theories of the currency are the extremest of the inflation schemes; but for exactly the same reason his visit adds nothing to the chances of the Democracy. In spite of the platform of the party, the respectable and influential part of the community, Democratic as well as Republican, are opposed to the swindle of paying a thousand dollar debt with five hundred dollars' worth of property, which is the real object of the inflation movement.

The defeat of the Democracy in Ohio is a thing every way desirable. It would be a misfortune to the whole country to have a State, especially a State of such consequence as Ohio, declare in favor of the crime against business integrity which is involved in the indefinite increase of the volume of legal tender currency.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION OF SPAIN.

The new constitution of the Spanish monarchy provides that the senate shall consist of 300 members. Deputies for the lower house are to be chosen for five years, one member for every 5,000 inhabitants. The king has the right to dissolve the house of deputies and the elective portion of the senate simultaneously or separately; but is required to convoke the new chamber within three months. He appoints the president and vice-president of the senate, and has the veto power. Persons arrested must be brought before a judicial tribunal, or released, within 72 hours. Either the cortes or the government may, by decree, suspend the constitutional guaranties in case of emergency; but banishment of a Spaniard from his country is absolutely prohibited.

Whether it was an accident, or the result of a spasm of candor, we cannot tell, but there was certainly more truth told in the captions of the two leading articles of the ring organ last Saturday, than we have seen in that sheet for some time. One of the articles, which was from beginning to end a tissue of gross misrepresentations of the Independent voters of the State, was headed "Reckless Falsehood;" and the other, a specimen of guerrilla journalism almost without precedent even in the columns of the ring organ, bore the appropriate title "Operations of the Bush-whacker."

Good for Postmaster General Jewell! The clerks in his department refusing to pay their political assessment, the subject of replacing them with a more patriotic force was broached, whereupon he notified his clerks they could do as they pleased, and should not be discharged for refusing to pay.

The ring organ is apparently in great trouble lest the OREGONIAN be left without a party. We beg the organ to be comforted, as we can not think of anything for which the OREGONIAN has less use than a party.

We learn by a letter from Polk county that the Independents will choose delegates to the State convention by mass meeting, next Saturday. The same course is, we are told, being pursued in other counties.

THE GALAXY.—The August number of this standard magazine is at hand. It presents a very attractive table of contents, the best of which is its editorial department. The notes on current literature are especially interesting.

GREAT DECREASE IN THE VALUE OF SUBURBAN PALACES.—Within the past season, a well-known estate on the upper Hudson, beautifully situated and carefully laid out, which cost the owner $100,000, was sold for less than the mortgage upon it, or for $30,000. As the traveler sails up the Hudson beyond Newburg he will, within a short distance, see three fine properties, one of which belonged to an British ambassador, another to one of our own foreign ministers, and the other to an equally prominent person, all of which are in the market, unsaleable and unrentable, one, indeed, being turned into a brick-yard. Passing still further up the stately river, the traveler will be pointed to other splendid properties belonging to old manorial estates—some of whose titles came from the British crown, and others whose deeds were signed by the Indian chiefs—now utterly worthless as sources of profit, the expenses of keeping them up exceeding any rent possible for them, and they themselves not finding a buyer at the price of the mortgages on them. These places, too, it should be remarked, are among the finest in the Northern States, with handsome lawns and gardens, old trees and parks, and superb views of river and mountain. The houses themselves are perhaps old, but not uncomfortable, and they are easy of access by boat and railroad. The same state of things prevails further from the river. There is one place in Dutchess county, which is said to have cost $250,000, and which could not be rented, and probably not sold for a third of its value.—N. Y. Times.

At a meeting of the bar in attendance at the supreme court, resolutions were adopted in memory of the late Hon. Geo. A. LaDow, member of Congress elect, and member of the bar of the supreme court.

INDEPENDENT STATE CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee, held at Portland, July 16, 1875, it was resolved that a State Independent Convention be held at Salem on the 10th of August, 1875, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate for Member of Congress.

The basis of representation adopted is one delegate for every 100 votes cast at the last General Election for T. F. Campbell for Governor, one additional for a fraction of 50 or more, and one delegate at large for each county. Under this apportionment, the several counties are entitled to Delegates to the State Convention, as follows:

Baker	2	Lane	6
Jackson	4	Linn	8
Coos	2	Marion	8
Curry	1	Multnomah	7
Columbia	2	Polk	6
Clatsop	1	Tillamook	1
Clackamas	3	Umatilla	5
Douglas	3	Union	2
Grant	3	Wasco	5
Jackson	4	Washington	6
Josephine	1	Yamhill	5
Lake	1

The Committee recommend that the people of the several counties meet either in Primaries or Mass Meetings, as they may deem best, on the 31st day of July, to select Delegates to the State Convention.

B.—The Manufacturers of the Averill Chemical Paint—patents dated March 25, 1858, July 16, 1867, Dec. 23, 1873—control the right to manufacture and sell mixed paints on the Pacific Coast, and hereby caution dealers and consumers that certain worthless imitations bearing the name of "mixed," "liquid" and "rubber" paints have already appeared in the market, but all such are infringements of the Averill Patent, and dealers in them are liable to prosecution for violation of the U. S. Patent Laws.

None are genuine save those marked "Averill Chemical Paint," and bearing our Trade Mark—a fac-simile of which will be found on each package, sample card and price list.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—In speaking of the consecration of St. John's Memorial church at Union, by Bishops Morris and Tuttle, the Dutchman says: This church is a memorial to the Rev. Geo. Natt. Its erection was made possible by the donation of $800 by Mrs. Natt, from whom it has also received many valuable gifts, devotions from her own self-denial, and the love of old friends and parishioners of her husband. Chancel carpets, pulpit and lectern covers, bible and prayer book desk chancel, communion service, alms basin and font, make this beautiful church complete for divine service. Other generous offerings, chiefly from Portland, have helped to speed the work. The church is novel in construction and appearance, and is thought to be a model for a cheap church when labor and material can be had at moderately low prices. The church has cost about $2,000. It is believed that the same building could be erected in Portland for $1,200 or $1,400. It is admirably built, Mr. Samuel Sisson, the contractor, having wrought upon it with unusual care and faithfulness, under many difficulties and perplexities. It is built of undressed fir, ceiled plank, placed on the inside of the outer frame, with open timbered roof. The roof is of dressed rongued and grooved sheeting, supported by heavy truss timbers, all dressed and chamfered. The framing timbers are beautifully related to each other; they are dressed and chamfered."

HARD LOSE.—Two small boys, aged respectively six and eight years, named John and Freddie, sons of Mr. Love, who resides on South First street, near the Marquam gulch, left their home about 7 o'clock last Saturday morning, and up to 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had not been found. It seems these boys were out on Friday evening chopping wood under the bridge which stands south of where Mr. Love lives, and had left the axe where they were cutting when they came home. Early Saturday morning, the boys told their mother that they would go down under the bridge and get the axe. She consented, and the boys started, but failed to return. About 6 o'clock the same morning a lady who lives some distance south states that she saw both boys walking along on the side of the gulch, going up toward the wooded hills above the Fourth-street bridge. Both boys were shoeless, and one coatless, but had their hats on. Failing to return, the mother became alarmed, and search was instituted, but without success. Late on Saturday afternoon and yesterday forenoon, a number of men were scouring the woods in all directions, near the head of the gulch. As the truants when last seen were going in that direction, the supposition is that they wandered off into the woods in search of berries, and got lost.

THE GUARD AND HIS LECTURES.—Rev. R. Bentley, pastor of the Taylor-street M. E. Church, wrote a letter, some time since, to the Rev. Thomas Guard, the noted pulpit orator, now pastor of the Howard-street church, San Francisco, inviting him to pay a visit to Portland for the purpose of delivering several of his most popular lectures. In response to this letter Mr. Bentley received an answer, in which Mr. Guard accepted the invitation, and stated that he would visit Portland some time in August. He will doubtless be here within the next two or three weeks. The following constitute the subjects of his most popular lectures: "Mental activities of the age and the Bible; man's relation to the earth; body and soul; an evening with the Waldenses; self-government; the law of inheritance—physical, mental and moral; an evening in my library; Christian philanthropy; memories of Lincoln; Savanarola and his times; the two Johns; life and its possibilities; the two Adams—nature and revelation."

ARRIVED.—The steamer John L. Stephens which sailed on Saturday from San Francisco for Portland brings the following passengers: Mrs. Frank, baby and daughter, Mrs. Neely and daughter, Jas. Laidlaw and wife, Gen. L. Brown, A. F. Trowbridge, M. Laufenberg, John W. Bell, Joe Evans, Geo. S. Mullin and daughter, J. H. Lasater, wife and daughter, W. Lewis, J. Copenian, D. G. Van Austine, H. D. Nelson, B. F. Burns, John Andrews, B. M. Dekoff, Jr., D. F. Smith, D. Cunningham, Mrs. M. Englehardt, J. Woodward and wife, J. P. Shefield and wife, C. H. Woodward, William Whitney and son, Mrs. H. Gourley and child, Mrs. H. Kelly and child, Mrs. S. B. McBride and three children, Mrs. T. Simpson and two children, Mrs. A. S. Blind, Mrs. L. Frank, Mrs. L. Ridgeway and child, Alex. Hoffman, Mrs. T. J. Hough and child, Mrs. S. Ray, Mrs. W. H. Hall, Mrs. G. M. Jessen and two children, Miss F. McLendan, Dr. A. J. Hover and wife, G. Mitchell and wife, W. B. Higbee.

RECENTLY ARRIVED.—By the steamer Califor. which arrived here on Friday night were brought down the remains of late Major John Wallace, U. S. A. They consist of part of the skull, vertebræ and thigh bones. They were found last fall by a life preserver of the lost steamer George S. Wright, and were still enveloped in the Major's military coat, by means of which they were identified. The bones, life preserver and coat were found on the beach of a lonely island not far from Sitka by Indians and were by them handed over to the U. S. revenue cutter. From the finding of these and the remains of other persons who were on board the lost steamer fully dressed and with life preservers upon them, there is every reason to believe that the steamer was wrecked in broad daylight or early in the evening, and that the unfortunate people had timely provide for their safety; but why the boats were not utilized must ever remain a mystery.

HORSE SOLD.—A Yamhill exchange tells the following good joke on a citizen of that county: "A citizen from this county being in Salem during the fore part of the week concluded to go and hear the Rev. E. P. Hammond. His modesty prevented him from going forward, and was satisfied with a back seat. He had been there but a short time when a stranger came up and slapped him on the shoulder and asked: 'Have you found Jesus?' Yamhilian replied, 'Yes, I found him about twenty years ago.' 'Where?' was next asked. 'In Missouri,' was the reply. 'I don't think you have found Him yet,' the stranger said. 'I know d—n well I have,' was answered. 'No, you have not found Him yet,' said the stranger. 'Who are you, sir,' the Yamhilian inquired. 'Rev. E. P. Hammond,' was now said. The gentleman from the class-rate of Yamhill was not long in making his exit."

BEAR SHOOTING.—Joseb Neidernauer, formerly of this city, now of Astoria, went out hunting a few days ago in the vicinity of that place and the local paper thus speaks of his experience: "Jacob Neiderauer, with his dogs Spot and Judy, found the bear suddenly, and both discharged the contents of a heavy loaded shot gun into bruin's head, but it was not enough to fetch him home. Although the dogs pitched upon and worried him not a little, the bear was too much for them, and they concluded that they had no interest for further proceedings." Other parties have since been in the same neighborhood with varying success.

SCRIPPING CONTRACTS.—We learn that contracts for the survey of U. S. public lands in this State, to the limit of the appropriation ($200,000), have been effected by the U. S. surveyor-general, and the several parties are now in the field, or on their way. The appropriation is sufficient to survey 150 townships—which, at 36 sections in a township, and 640 acres in a section, aggregates quite a large body of land open to settlement and entry. The counties in which surveying is to be prosecuted this summer are: Clatsop, Tillamook, Columbia, Benton, Curry, Douglas, Jackson, Lake, Union, and Baker.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, July 25, 1876:

	7 A.M.	2 P.M.	9 P.M.
Thermometer	63	77	67

UNION MEETING.—The last union meeting was held last evening at the Taylor-street M. E. Church by the several affiliating denominations of the city. The large auditorium was crowded to overflowing, and a marked interest was manifested during the evening. Short addresses were made by the several ministers interspersed with congregational singing.

NEW VARIETIES PROPOSED.—We heard a rumor yesterday that Mr. Theodore Carlton, of this city, will shortly lease the Oro Fino theater with a view of opening a first class variety theater, making changes in the company by special arrangement, every few weeks. We are satisfied that a first class variety and vaudeville theater can be made to pay if conducted properly and for a brief season. Mr. Carlton has had experience and knows what is required to make a place of amusement of this kind successful.

MR. HAMMOND.—A dispatch from Salem dated 24th, says: From two to three thousand meet nightly in Marion square grove at E. Payson Hammond's meetings. Great interest prevails all through the city and country. Mr. H. remains till Monday or Tuesday, and then goes Wednesday night to Olympia, and Thursday to Seattle. One week from Monday he leaves there for Sitka. An excursion expect to go with him to Seattle and probably to Sitka.

TO LOAD WITH LUMBER.—From the Benton Democrat of last week we learn that the little schooner Alice, of Alsea, went to sea from Newport on last Friday. She will load cedar lumber at the Alsea, which she will carry to Portland, returning with a cargo of merchandise for merchants on the bay.

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL.—This new hospital is now nearly completed and will soon be ready for occupation. A matron has been secured and the building will be opened for the reception of patients soon after the return of the bishop from his tour in the eastern part of his jurisdiction.

PUTTING UP BUILDINGS.—Captain J. C. Ainsworth, we learn, is putting up six or seven neat cottages on the shore of American lake, in Pierce county, for the accommodation of Portland friends who are going there for a summer resort.

BALL AND BAT.

Smooth it over as we may; stow it away in the furthermost recess of a cave of gloom: hurl curses upon the tongue that tells us so, and the fact still remains that there are fifteen hundred thoroughly organized baseball clubs in the United States.

Plans are maturing for the grandest excursion ever given in Oregon some time next month. A steamer or two, with a band or two of music, will run down to Astoria during the night, stay a day, attend a base-ball match, to which a prize of $100 in gold is awarded; attend a party in the evening, and return to Portland the second night.

From the Astorian we learn that the second match game of base ball between the Excelsior B. B. Club, of Fort Stevens, and the Astoria B. B. Club, of Astoria, which was announced by posters to take place last Saturday at the Fort, did not come off. The Astorians made all the arrangements to play on that day, advertising an excursion, etc., and were all ready to go. At a late hour Friday evening word was received from Fort Stevens stating that the Excelsiors would be unable to play on that day. It was too late to notify the public of the postponement, and as a large number of people gathered at the wharf in anticipation of an excursion, it was decided best to go and play a practice game, picking a nine from the excursionists, which was done, the game resulting in favor of the Excelsiors. Next Saturday is set for the game, on which day it is proposed to give a grand excursion from Astoria.

AMUSEMENTS.

This evening the Alleghanians will arrive from the Sound and Victoria where they have met with great success. They will appear at the New Market theater to-night in their novel entertainment, and continue through the week, with Saturday matinee. The troupe consists of vocalists, Swiss bell ringers, three gentlemen and two ladies, who are artists of rare order. Collins, the comedian, is first class and keeps the audience convulsed with laughter. We have no doubt that the New Market theater will be crowded this evening. Box office now open at Gray's music store. Secure your seats early and avoid trouble.

PERSONAL.

U. S. Marshal Kearney, of Washington Territory, is in the city.

Rev. Mr. Burton, who is now at San Jose, Cal., is expected to return next month and resume charge of the Grammar School.

Rev. Mr. Wrixon, of the Grammar School, is making a tour of the sound during vacation, and improving his time by doing missionary work by the way.

Ben. Selling and Simon Harris returned from Victoria and the Sound on Friday. They report meeting Robert McCann, formerly of this city, at Newcastle mine, Nanaimo.

FIRE AT WESTON.

Large Loss of Property.

WALLA WALLA, July 24.—A destructive fire occurred at Weston, Umatilla county, on Thursday afternoon, July 22d. The following letter furnishes the latest intelligence in regard to the disaster:

WESTON, July 23.—A fire broke out here yesterday a few minutes past 4 P. M. in an old shed where there was some loose hay. It is supposed to have been set on fire by some little boys. Nothing but the utmost exertions of the people prevented the entire town from burning up. The excitement was intense, every one supposing that the town would be laid waste. Mr. Graham lost everything except a few bed clothes. The list of losses I send you is as near correct as it is possible to get them this morning. L. McMORRIS.

List of Property Destroyed.

C. Sailing, warehouse, etc., $2,000; S. S. Watson, 3 buildings, $1,000; R. H. Baskett, $250; Dr. M. Vrooman, 1 building, $300; J. Stahl, insured $600, loss $1,000; Wm. Goodbrook, $300; L. Teal, 1 building, $300; S. F. Benkanin, $250; F. Graham, shop, dwelling, &c., $2,500; H. S. Boothby, 1 house, $500; H. Surdam, $150; H. McArthur, 1 house, $350; R. L. Curran, blacksmith shop, $250; McMorris Bros' store and postoffice building, $1,200; E. M. Purinton, $1,000. Total, $13,050.

CHROMOS FOR ALL.—An extensive stock of chromos has been opened in the store adjoining the postoffice by Mr. E. W. Ryan. These chromos were selected personally during a recent visit in the east, and will be offered at low prices. Call and examine.

Genuine imported Vichy water and the delicious crenue Polar soda water can only be had at Pfunder's German pharmacy, New Theatre block.

KOHN is making quite an attractive display in his new Store, corner of First and Morrison streets. The new goods have arrived and his customers, new and old, may find some really handsome styles for summer wear. In Furnishing Goods he can accommodate the most fastidious. He knows the wants of the people, and now none need complain about the scarcity of styles and the quality of the fabrics offered. The prices are regulated according to the times.

For the Summer and Fall season some new and appropriate styles in clothing have been introduced. The large and varied stock at BECK & WALDMAN'S is worthy of inspection by all intending to buy something unusually new and attractive. Their late arrivals of Furnishing Goods are also very fine and must meet with great favor. This firm continue to offer special inducements in youths' clothing. In every respect their stock is complete.

COLD LUNCHES.—The oyster season having closed, WALLER & SON, Oak street, between First and Second, will serve Rare Lunches to their patrons at all hours. The ONFORD SALAD DRESSING, their own preparation, is meeting with great favor. Try it.

LACES! LACES!

Having perfected arrangements with an acquaintance in London, I am enabled to offer Laces at lower figures than they can be purchased elsewhere in the city. I have these goods in SHAWLS, HANDKERCHIEFS, SACKS, DRESS TRIMMINGS, and by the yard. The ladies are invited to call. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Don't Make War on the Stomach.

If you are bilious, dyspeptic and constipated, don't make war on the stomach by successively swallowing blue pills, strong purgatives and powerful astringents. Such a procedure damages digestion and weakens the bowels, leaving stomach, liver and intestines, after the immediate effect, in a condition of greater disorder than before. That complete relief which remedies of the above description signally fail to afford is obtained by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. And for the best of reasons. Biliousness is the result of inactivity of the liver, dyspepsia of weakness of the digestive organs, and constipation is produced by the above causes operating together. The Bitters, being a powerful stomachic, overcome indigestion by stimulating the secretion of gastric juice, relieve biliousness by promoting greater activity of the liver, and thus enable the bowels to act with renewed regularity.

Neglect everything, or anything except a cough or cold. A year's suffering and too often death itself, may be the result of one day's inattention to troubles of the throat or lungs. Says the Silver City Avalanche of the 19th: "Some samples of ore recently taken from the tunnel of the Poorman where stoping is going on has a rich appearance. Part of it assays as high as $1,579, and the poorest exceeds $400. Out of several lumps recently taken from the mine promiscuously, there will be an average of $825. Pretty good."

The races at Silver City, on the 18th, were thinly attended. Glisan's "Whisky Bill" won the quarter mile dash and a $25 purse. Another race, a quarter of a mile dash, will come off soon between Bonnar's horse "Billy Nunn," Raby's "Gilebrist," and "John the Baptist," owned by Kingsbury. The great race between the Wright colt and "Dancing Charley" will come off on the 1st prox.

A MIDNIGHT HORROR

AN ENGLISH FARMER'S STRANGE NOCTURNAL VISITOR

Twenty five years ago one of the most famous private collections of wild animals was the one possessed by the Earl of Derby at Knowsley, Lancashire, England. This gentleman was the grandfather of the present distinguished statesman, and father of the late and still more famous man, Macaulay's "Rupert of Debate" The zoological collection was fostered and sustained with wonderful care and at a large annual outlay. Emissaries were employed in all parts of the world to procure rare specimens, and so perfect were the arrangements for their reception at Knowsley that the animals seemed to forget utterly their lost liberty when the rather eccentric Earl became their possessor

Among the varied and valuable collection was a magnificent specimen of the orang-outang or chimpanzee Its height, when standing erect, was nearly five feet ten inches, its limbs were enormous, and its breadth across the shoulders indicated prodigious strength Long, coarse black hair covered its huge frame from head to foot, and when anything occurred to excite its ill-tempered features became terribly fierce and repulsive

Not far from the Earl's beautiful residence there dwelt a well-to-do-farmer, who had acted for some years as one of the assistant stewards to Lord Derby He had recently become a widower. The farmer's household consisted of himself, the baby, aged four months, and an old woman who did general duty as nurse and housekeeper. The house occupied a lonely position within half a mile or so, and along and severe winter had set in, covering the entire country round about with a carpet of snow

On one dark and memorable night the widowed farmer had retired to rest, having partaken of his supper in his bedroom on account of the comfortable fire which that chamber boasted, and because it was his custom to have his child's cradle in that room. Whenever the nurse was required at night time the father rang the bell which communicated with her apartment, immediately above, access to which was obtained by a narrow flight of stairs On the night in question the young infant lay in blissful unconsciousness in its warm cot, near the cheerful fire, and the father lying in bed, "between sleep and awake." Presently he heard his chamber door open slowly, and he roused himself slightly to see what the faithful old nurse required, for he concluded it was she who was about to enter But she did not enter The door remained open, and the farmer was on the eve of speaking softly to the nurse, when gently, and with a cautious, noiseless tread, the monstrous orang-outang glided into the room.

The farmer sank back into his bed dismayed, and his dismay probably saved his life, for his visitor—a fitting envoy from "Night's plutonian shore"—continued to be ignorant of his presence. The creature then proceeded to the neighborhood of the fire-place, near which, in its cradle, the child lay, happily unaware of the grizzly intruder's existence The bright flames in the old, dark wainscoated chamber gave it a rich Rembrandt touch. On a small table were the remains of the farmer's supper, which had consisted of fowls. These the animal descried, and for a few minutes they afforded it considerable interest, its thoughts and reflections being seemingly concentrated upon the anatomical arrangement of the deceased bird.

After toying with the bones and other remnants of the repast, the brute's attention was suddenly attracted to the cradle To walk nearly erect was the normal habit of this ill-favored beast He quietly approached the sleeping child and squatted down at its side

It is probable that among the select visitors to Lord Derby's museum the baboon had never seen an infant, any way so fruit and young The sight, therefore, was novel, and he gazed upon the unconscious creature with manifest interest as he removed the coverlet from its sleeping form The farmer, from out the curtains of his bed, beheld the entire proceedings with indescribable agony It was not presence of mind which prevented him leaping out to the rescue, but a feeling of spell-bound helplessness. The poor farmer was not deficient in ordinary courage, and would have faced a dozen of his own species without a particle of fear, had circumstances demanded it, but he felt utterly incapable of wrestling with such a foe as the one now sitting before the ruddy chamber fire After a little while the creature lifted the infant from the cradle and placed it with infinite tenderness upon the hearthrug. It then proceeded to make a rigid examination of the child's limbs, so soft and plump, and so devoid of all brute decoration

It was this fact that probably amazed and staggered the examiner most. He, no doubt, retained some recollection of the young progeny of his own kith and kin in the days of his liberty in the distant African forests, but never before had he gazed upon a little alabaster form like this So gently had he removed the babe from its cot, and so considerate did he conduct his researches, that its sleep survived the process. Apparently satisfied in the extreme with his investigation, the monster—monster with touch so delicate!—transferred his attentions to a general scrutiny of the chamber in which he now found himself, without invitation, and possibly with greater emotions of surprise than those experienced by the farmer, if that could be

Furniture was certainly a novel spectacle, for in his recent home a devil, leafless tree was the sole decorative article, and he now roamed the room with such a look of critical acumen that he strongly resembled an auctioneer's clerk taking an inventory of the household property The old-fashioned bed in which the farmer lay in speechless suspense was evidently destined to come last upon the intruder's catalogue But come it did, and the terrible brute, exceeding in height the average human race, and with evidences of innate strength equally in excess, now stood at the farmer's side The visitor remained there but for a moment, and to the farmer who had affected to be sound asleep, it was no such brief period of time. All at once timid cry from the tiny child, who evidently preferred the coziness of the cradle to the discomforts of the hearthrug, altered the programme instantly The baboon immediately deserted the father and ran to the side of the awakened child

The nurse, from her room above, had heard the cry, the door being purposely open, and she prepared to descend the narrow stairs. But the wretched farmer could not support the awful tension in which his nerves had been held the last ten minutes, and he gave vent to a wild, half frantic shout The monster was terrified and instantly prepared for escape He leaped along the room to the housekeeper's staircase, where he encountered the unsuspecting old lady More than the grim outline of the brute could not have been visible in the darkened stairway The nurse and the brute appeared to have closed in a fixed embrace, for in that position they struggled and fell to the foot of the staircase Then the brute disentangled itself from the old woman's hold, and effected his escape from the house

The scene which ensued can hardly be imagined The nurse lay apparently dead upon the ground, and the farmer stood by her unable at the moment to render her any assistance It seemed to him most like a horrible dream, but the prostrate form of the housekeeper and the presence of the child upon the hearth rug proved too clearly the substantial results of the occurrence

When the farmer nerved himself sufficiently to minister to the nurse's requirements he found that her nervous system had received an irreparable shock, from which she never recovered She passed from one horror to another and never regained enough consciousness to understand who had mysterious antagonist had been.

In the course of the following day the old lady died On the morning after the occurrence of these events a diligent search was made for the missing brute whose escape had soon become known when the keeper commenced his daily rounds They had not to search far They found the animal disporting in an adjoining wood, and enjoying to the fullest extent his regained liberty It was quite evident that the world not recognize that liberty without a hard struggle for it While the method of his capture was being debated, the news of the housekeeper's death and the events connected therewith became known, and was sufficient to sign the death warrant of the unwitting cause of her decease It was a hard fate, but he was not prepared to resist it, and he quietly obeyed the summons conveyed to him through the medium of three rifle bullets, and expired after a checkered enjoyment of twenty-four hours' freedom

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The same feeling of firmness noted yesterday is continued to-day and though no important transactions have come to light quotations are nominally $1 20@1 [illegible] per cental.

FLOUR—In sympathy with the firm tone of the wheat market flour, as quoted by us yesterday has been advanced to-day to $6 ½ bbl for leading brands and is firm at that figure Other grades have kept pace with the standard extras are nominally $6@6 25 lower or $5 50 @ bbl for country brands and $5 for superfine

OATS—There is less excitement in this cereal than prevailed earlier in the season and it is now no lano in the season and the surplus of the old crop too nearly exhausted to get up much feeling The demand is fair, and jobbers and shippers quietly take the few lots that offer at 65@70c ₱ bushel

HAY—A full supply in the market quotable at $10@11 ₱ ton for fair to best timothy, loose and $11 baled

POTATOES—The market is in full supply at 75c $1 ₱ bushel

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market quotable at 2½@3c ₱ lb nominally

APPLES DRIED—The demand is hardly so active and receipts have somewhat fallen off The out going steamer to day carried some Quotations are nominal at 5c ₱ lb

BEANS—The demand at San Francisco is reported dull We quote our home market quiet at 11@12c ₱ lb for sides 8@9c for shoulders and 11½@12½c ₱ lb for hams All kinds in fair supply

BUTTER—There has been a continued fair demand for the local trade and for shipment Prices are kept at 27½@32½ cents per dozen, fresh laid commanding the latter figure readily

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 10c ₱ lb in kegs or tins and is in brisk demand

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at 22½@25 ₱ lb extra print for table use 30@35c, common solid 15@20c

CHICKENS—The market is in liberal supply quotations for full grown $4 @4 50 per dozen, spring $2 50@3 50

VEAL—Is in fair supply and the arrivals have been noticed during the week and the market is supplied with an excellent stock slaughterers prices are $5 7-@4 25 per cwt net or $1 75@2 50 on foot

MUTTON SHEEP—The demand is light at $2@2 75 per head

DRESSED HOGS—There is some inquiry for the local trade at 6½@6¾c ₱ lb

HIDES AND FURS—Prices for hides are still down on account of the many damaged lots reaching the market. Undamaged are quoted at 15c @ lb for dry beef hides 6c for green culls 5@6c elk 18@20c ₱ lb deer 18@20c ₱ lb dried and 50c @ piece, green, mink skins each $1 50 otter $7 @8 beaver, 50@$1

WOOL—There has been some decline in the movement, though several large lots have arrived during the past week Nothing has transpired to change the quotations of 23@25 cents ₱ lb for fair valley wool and 21@22c for that from east of the mountains. The Commercial Herald says The shipments of wool eastward both by rail and bond have thus far in the season been of considerable magnitude resulting in reducing the stocks of all kinds in San Francisco to about 1,250 000 lbs as against a year's production of 20 000 000 lbs There is now very little Oregon wool obtainable as the bulk of the clip is controlled by two or three parties who prefer to ship the same East for their own account.
